

Ambreen Khwaja

Since childhood, Ambreen was captivated by painting and drawing. This interest naturally translated into makeup artistry in her early 20's. Ambreen has been a professional makeup artist for six years. In that time, she has worked on music videos, films, and commercials with clients such as United Airlines, Ritz Crackers, L'Oreal, and Buchanan's Whiskey.

Before becoming a makeup artist, Ambreen was a student at the University of Houston and majored in biology. Her mentor is Victor Henao, who she assisted on commercials for Estée Lauder as well as other projects featuring talent such as Misty Copeland, Anya Taylor-Joy, and Ivy Getty.

As a makeup artist, Ambreen brings forth her clients' best features. She enhances their natural beauty rather than using makeup to cover them up to reveal her clients' best and true selves. Ambreen's clients affirm that she has a calm and warm demeanor while remaining professional during her application and while on set.

Ambreen stays prepared for anything to happen on set, including small makeup, wardrobe, and hygiene emergencies so her clients can work with peace of mind knowing that she has them covered. She offers top notch professionalism and excellent hygiene standards as well as an amazing experience in the chair. Ambreen listens to her clients' needs and concerns while making them feel and look their best. Special skills include applying special effects makeup and bodypainting.

Seeing other creative individuals making beautiful art fearlessly keeps Ambreen inspired and energized. She believes that as a makeup artist she has a huge role in not only how her clients look, but how they feel. From the moment they sit in her chair to the time they wrap; she strives to uplift and encourage them so that they can do their job to the best of their ability.
